INTRODUCTION

The author of this genealogy is deeply indebted to the late Dr. Paul Wesley Burdge of Rahway, N.J. (See P. 61 ), also to his son, FRANKLIN JOHN BURDGE, who kindly loaned me his father's notes. PAUL WESLEY BURDGE began collecting Burdge data as early as 1873 and joined forces with the author in 1909 at which time we combined our records. We had several pleasant and profitable meetings and later also carried on the work by lengthy correspondence until his death in 1917.

Since that time I have searched the genealogical libraries in Albany, New York, New York City, Philadelphia, Newark, N.J., Trenton, N.J., Freehold, N.J., Chicago, Denver, Washington, as well as Court House and Town Records at Jamaica, Long Island, Freehold, N.J., Cincinnati, Ohio, Columbia County, N.J., Jennings County, Indiana, Orange County, Calif., and in many other sections where Burdge groups have lived. Letters were sent to living Burdge men and women whose names have been listed in telephone and city directories. Federal census records were also searched at Washington, D. C. to clear up on certain dates. In this way we have been able to get a fairly complete and accurate record of the first nine generations of the descendants of JOHNATHAN BURDGE and his wife HANNAH whose names appeared at Hempstead, Long Island, as early as 1673.

His son DAVID BURDGE, a carpenter, went from Hempstead, Long Island May 20, 1715, to Monmouth County, New Jersey and bought a 685-acre farm on the Navesink River and Clay Creek. This became known as "Burdge Point" and has until recently been in the possession of his descendants (See Map).

David was accompanied by his three sons, JONATHAN, URIAH and DAVID and probably by some daughters. The descendants of his son JONATHAN are listed under FAMILY "A" beginning on Page 5 , those of URIAH under FAMILY "B" on Page 114 and those of DAVID under FAMILY "C" on Page 150 .

The names of other descendants not definitely connected as yet to above groups are listed under FAMILY "D," Page 379 , FAMILY "X," Page 367 FAMILY "Y," Page 376 .

Jonathan of FAMILY "A" later moved to Shrewsbury, New Jersey (See Map) and URIAH and DAVID remained in Middletown (on the old farm). These quaint old towns are little changed and should be visited by every Burdge descendant whose travels take them to New York City. Go by ferry to Atlantic Highlands (see map) and then by bus.

This genealogy covers the BURDGE families of the earlier generations and aims to lay an accurate foundation of known facts on which later generations can be easily added. This book covers old records hard to get.

BURDGE descendants still live in Monmouth County, New Jersey not far from David's large farm at "BURDGE POINT." A large number spelling the name BURDG live in Orange County, California, where the author and his wife had the pleasure of attending one of their annual meetings in 1938. We also met with another BURDGE group a few weeks later, at Montezuma, Ohio, on the fine old Robert BURDGE, Sr. farm, bought in 1835. (See Page 28 .) Robert, so named for his grandfather, Robert Van Dusen, migrated with his father, JONATHAN BURDGE, from Columbia County, New York, before 1809 to Cincinnati, Ohio, where another large group lives.

One Jacob BURDG, a Quaker living at Shrewsbury, New Jersey, dropped the final "e" from Burdge although his brother did not. The Orange County, California group, mostly Quakers, spell it thus, just as it was handed down to them. In England it is spelled BURDGE.

The large and prominent BIRGE family are mostly descendants of Richard BIRDGE who settled in Old Windsor, Connecticut, in 1637. Without much doubt they too were of the BURDGE line in England, as the given names Richard, Jonathan, Samuel and David are same as in our BURDGE line. On another page will be found information as to the origin of the name.

Howard Griffith Burdge

ORIGIN OF THE NAME BURDGE

The name Burdge is of French origin. After the massacre of St. Bartholomew August 24, 1572, such Huguenots as escaped the bloody persecutions of the Roman Catholic Church fled from the environs of Paris, some to England. At that time it was spelled D'Bourget.

In England the name became Anglicized. The final "t" (silent) was dropped. In order to retain the "d" which was a mark of distinction, it was placed in the middle of the name and the silent "o" was dropped. Thus the name became Burdge.

As children, members of all branches were carefully instructed not to leave out the "d," a tradition handed down from generation to generation although the original reason was unknown.

In this connection it is interesting to know that in the 1890's Franklin Burdge an attorney of note from New York City (P. 60) met in Paris Dr. and Mrs. Lucia Russell Fellows (P. 128). While walking in an old Paris cemetery (pere le chaise) they found two graves. They were of two brothers, one died in England, named spelled "Burdge" and the other who died in Paris spelled D'Bourget. Franklin Burdge was a cousin of Dr. Paul Wesley Burdge to whom he told this incident and Mrs. Fellows whose husband was at that time President of the University of Maine wrote the author telling of this purely chance incident--so you see now why the "D" is in our name.

There is a beautiful lake "Bourget" by name in the Department (County) of Savoie, France, seven miles northwest of Chambery enclosed by picturesque heights, famed for its fresh water mackerel.

There is also a village Le Bourget in the Department of Seine, six miles northeast of Paris.

Paul D'Bourget is a noted French author.

Nothing further is known as to the origin of the word D'Bourget. It probably meant that the persons were from one of these regions. So say French authorities on the derivations of French names.

The author of this genealogy, Howard Griffith Burdge, received the degree of A.B. from Allegheny College and A.M. and Ph. D. from Columbia University, and is a member of Honorary Educational Fraternities as follows:

INTERESTING OLD DOCUMENTS

1673 - Jonathan Burdge first appears among a list of the inhabitants of Hempstead, Long Island - his name misspelled as John Borde. He doubtless had lived there for some years prior to 1673. Hempstead was settled in 1643-4 by a group of Englishmen, but Jonathan Burdge was not one of them.

1681 - See copy of Deed

Jonathan was a land owner on Madnan's Neck (Indian name for Horse Neck) which was the eastern half of the present Great Neck on the northern shore of Long Island, also on cow neck which was the western half of Great Neck. These necks were in the town of Hempstead. Jamaica is the county seat. Great Neck is on Long Island Sound.

1683 - Documentary History of N.Y. Vol. 2 - also Onderdank's Annals of Hempstead. On October 11, 1683 Jonathan was taxed at Hempstead for two cows.

1685 - Jonathan Burdge taxed on 20 acres (History of Long Island, Vol.2)

1698 - Jonathan and family listed in Hempstead census.

1692 - David Burdge (Jonathan's oldest son) on January 1, 1692 signed as a witness to a legal paper at Oyster Bay, New York (See Vol. 2, P. 97, Oyster Bay Town Records)

1705 - David Burdge and brother Jonathan deeded land, May 26, 1705, to Nicholas Bayard. Jamaica Court Records, Liber 2, P. 186 (Recorded 1706.

1706 - David Burdge of Hempstead May 13, 1706 deeded to Thomas Hedges, Jamaica, Long Island, Liber 2, P. 185, Also Book 2, P. 167

1715 - May 20, 1715, David Burdge, carpenter, of Hempstead, Long Island, buys in Monmouth County New Jersey, 685 acres of land from Benjamin Borden. See copy of deed on another page.

1724 - Jonathan Burdge heir to David Burdge quitclaims September 21, 1724 to his brother, Uriah Burdge and also to his brother, David, etc. Deed Book K2, P. 276-7 at State House, Trenton, New Jersey. Copies of deed on another page.

1715 - Deed Benjamin Borden to David Burdge

State House, Trenton, New Jersey, Book K2, P. 158
(Copies 9-2-1933 by Howard Griffith Burdge)

"May 10, 1715 in the first of the reign of our George over Great Brittain, France and Ireland, between Benjamin Borden of the Twp. of Freehold in the County of Monmouth in the eastern division of the province of New Jersey, yeoman and with the consent of his wife, Zerniah, and also with the consent of Hannah Winter, late wife of Richard Gardner deceased that was formerly possessed of the lands herein and hereinafter sold etc., etc., and David Burdge of Hempstead, Queens Co. Long Island in the province of New York, carpenter,

Said Benjamin Borden in consideration of 280 pounds current money of New York to him in hand paid by said David Burdge etc., etc., - all those several tracts of land situate lying and being in the bounds of Middletown, aforesaid, viz - One garden lot containing one and one half acres, bounded on the East and South by the highways and on the north and west by the land of Christopher Almy, also 2 acres of upland joining Lewis Mattis garden spot, bounded on North and East by Christ. Almy, West by the hills, South by Lewis Mattis, also 2 acres of sandy boggy meadows, lying on the side of the bay, bounded round by the land of Richard Hartshorne, also a neck of land lying on the Navesink River containing 357 acres, beginning at three black oaks all marked on four sides, from these Easterly as the River (Navesink) turns 70 chains almost to the point of the neck to a stake planted by a path, from thence turning North 20 chains up a small creek (note clay creek) or brook and from thence turning as the brook turns to the first mentioned trees, bounded on the West by land not yet laid out - South and East by the Navesink River and on the North by the small brook that parts this land from poorman's plain. Allowance being given for barren lands is to remain for 300 acres.

Also a piece of fresh meadow lying on the northermost point of said land - 12 acres by land not surveyed. Also a piece of salt meadow, lying in the great meadows 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  acres - 22 chains in length - breadth 5 chains. Bounded on the West by meadows - formerly Job Throckmorton's North by the bay, South by upland and East by meadow not surveyed, the whole containing three hundred eight and twenty acres (328) English measure . All of which land and acres were granted and conveyed to Benjamin Borden by Richard Gardner Jan. 13, 1713, etc. together with all housing, building, fencing, orchards, field improvements, feeding pastures, woods, waters, water courses, waterfalls, springs, ponds, pools, pitts, casements, profits, commodities, fishings, fowlings, hawkings, huntings, advantages, emoluments, etc. etc.

The first of these is the fact that the data are not normally distributed. This is evident from the fact that the distribution is skewed to the right. The second is the fact that the data are not independent. This is evident from the fact that the data are correlated.
 The third is the fact that the data
 are not stationary. This is evident from the fact that the mean and
 variance of the data are not constant.
 The fourth is the fact that the data
 are not homogeneous. This is evident from the fact that the data are
 not from a single population.

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the project. It describes the purpose of the study and the objectives that were set at the beginning.

2. The second part is a literature review. It looks at what other researchers have said about the topic and how their findings relate to the current study.

3. The third part is the methodology. It explains the methods that were used to collect data and how the data was analyzed.

4. The fourth part is the results. It presents the findings of the study in a clear and concise way.

5. The fifth part is the conclusion. It summarizes the main points of the study and discusses the implications of the findings.

The first part of the paper is devoted to a review of the literature on the topic. It is found that there is a general consensus that the use of the word "the" is a common feature of English. However, there is a lack of agreement on the exact meaning of the word. Some scholars argue that it is a marker of definiteness, while others argue that it is a marker of specificity. The present study aims to investigate the use of the word "the" in a corpus of English texts. The results of the study are presented in the following sections.

Franklin Burdge, a retired lawyer, died from heart disease at Carlsbad, Austria on September 9. Mr. Burdge has been in ill health for some time and left this country several months ago in hopes to improve his condition. His body will arrive in this city in a fortnight, when arrangements will be made for the funeral. Mr. Burdge was born in Philadelphia in 1833, son of Ira and Harriet Kane Burdge. Following his early education, Mr. Burdge took a course at Brown University, from which institution he was graduated in 1856. He later went to the Albany Law School, and was graduated with the class of '59. Soon after his graduation he came to this city and practiced law until 1887, when he retired because of ill health. Mr. Burdge was the author of four pamphlets relating to Simon Boorum, John Harling and Henry Wisner, members of the Continental Congress, and a life of John Brougham, the actor. He also made many contributions to the American Biography. Mr. Burdge married Miss Ella Jackson of Manasquan, N.J. in 1891. His home in this city was at No. 325 West 57th St.

Mr. Burdge was a member of the Brown University Alumni Association, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Theta Delta Chi, the New York Historical Society and the American Geographical Society.

The first of these is the quantitative aspect of the problem, which is concerned with the measurement of the various factors involved in the process. This is the aspect which is most easily dealt with, and which is the one to which the most attention has been paid in the past. It is the aspect which is most easily understood, and which is the one to which the most interest has been shown by the public.

The second aspect is the qualitative aspect, which is concerned with the nature of the process itself. This is the aspect which is most difficult to deal with, and which is the one to which the least attention has been paid in the past. It is the aspect which is most easily misunderstood, and which is the one to which the least interest has been shown by the public.

The third aspect is the dynamic aspect, which is concerned with the changes which take place in the process over time. This is the aspect which is most difficult to deal with, and which is the one to which the least attention has been paid in the past. It is the aspect which is most easily misunderstood, and which is the one to which the least interest has been shown by the public.

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated September 17, 1787. It is a very important document, as it is the first official communication of the new government. The President, George Washington, is writing to the Congress, which is then sitting in Philadelphia. He is telling them that he has signed the Constitution, and that he is now ready to take office. He is also telling them that he is very proud of the new government, and that he is confident that it will be successful.

2. The second part of the document is a letter from the Vice President, John Adams, to the Congress, dated September 17, 1787. He is also telling them that he has signed the Constitution, and that he is ready to take office. He is also telling them that he is very proud of the new government, and that he is confident that it will be successful.

3. The third part of the document is a letter from the Secretary of the Convention, James Wilson, to the Congress, dated September 17, 1787. He is telling them that the Convention has finished its work, and that it is now ready to adjourn. He is also telling them that he is very proud of the new government, and that he is confident that it will be successful.

The Constitution of the United States
Article I	Article II	Article III	Article IV
Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives. Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors in that State.	Section 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. Section 2. The President shall hold Office for Years, but not be elected for more than two Terms.	Section 1. The judicial Power shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. Section 2. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold Office during good Behaviour.	Section 1. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens of the United States. Section 2. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless declared by Congress, except in Case of imminent Danger, when it may be necessary to repel an Invasion.

 results of the experiments are not in agreement with the theoretical predictions. This is due to the fact that the theoretical predictions are based on the assumption that the system is in equilibrium. In the present case, however, the system is not in equilibrium and the results are therefore different.

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to define the problem clearly. This involves identifying the symptoms of the problem and determining the scope of the problem. Once the problem has been defined, the next step is to identify the causes of the problem. This involves identifying the factors that are contributing to the problem and determining the relationships between these factors. Once the causes of the problem have been identified, the next step is to develop a plan of action. This involves identifying the steps that need to be taken to solve the problem and determining the resources that will be needed to implement the plan. Finally, the last step in the process is to evaluate the results of the plan. This involves monitoring the progress of the plan and determining whether the problem has been solved.

* Had several letters in 1911 from both Hiram and Samantha Burdge Ware of Whittier, Calif. Hiram lived in Ala. They furnished all the data about the descendants of Jacob and Miriam. Jacob's father spelled Burdge thus, but for some unknown reason Jacob and his descendants dropped the final "e" thus Burdg.
 Most of the above children were born in Columbia Co., Ohio

The first of these is the fact that the data are not normally distributed. This is evident from the fact that the distribution
 is skewed to the right. The second is
 the fact that the data are not independent. This is evident from the fact that the data are correlated.
 The third is the fact that the data
 are not stationary. This is evident
 from the fact that the mean and
 variance of the data are not constant.
 The fourth is the fact that the data
 are not homogeneous. This is evident
 from the fact that the data are
 not from a single population.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation  $f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt$ . It is shown that  $f(x)$  is a constant function, and its value is determined by the initial condition  $f(0) = 1$ .

2. In the second part, we consider the function  $g(x)$  defined by the equation  $g(x) = \int_0^x g(t) dt + x$ . It is shown that  $g(x)$  is a linear function, and its value is determined by the initial condition  $g(0) = 0$ .

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $h(x)$  defined by the equation  $h(x) = \int_0^x h(t) dt + x^2$ . It is shown that  $h(x)$  is a quadratic function, and its value is determined by the initial condition  $h(0) = 0$ .

4. In the fourth part, we consider the function  $k(x)$  defined by the equation  $k(x) = \int_0^x k(t) dt + x^3$ . It is shown that  $k(x)$  is a cubic function, and its value is determined by the initial condition  $k(0) = 0$ .

The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to secure the necessary funds to carry out its policy of maintaining the value of the pound sterling at its pre-war level. This has led to a steady decline in the value of the pound since 1947, and has been a major factor in the economic difficulties which the country has experienced since that time.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of temperature on the rate of reaction between hydrogen peroxide and potassium iodide. The reaction is catalyzed by the presence of a small amount of potassium iodide. The rate of reaction was measured by the volume of oxygen gas evolved in a given time.

The results show that the rate of reaction increases with increasing temperature. This is because the molecules have more kinetic energy and are therefore more likely to collide with sufficient energy to overcome the activation energy barrier.

The following table shows the results of the experiments conducted on the effect of concentration on the rate of reaction between hydrogen peroxide and potassium iodide. The reaction is catalyzed by the presence of a small amount of potassium iodide. The rate of reaction was measured by the volume of oxygen gas evolved in a given time.

The results show that the rate of reaction increases with increasing concentration of hydrogen peroxide. This is because there are more molecules of hydrogen peroxide available to react with the potassium iodide catalyst.

Jan or Johannis Sprungh the common ancestor of the family, a soldier from Ron, in the Province of Drenthe, Holland. Married 10-23-1660 Anna or Johanna Sodelaers from either Koenigsberg, Prussia or (as Bergen says) Conex in Bergen, Norway.

He died prior to September 15, 1694, on which day his widow married Claes(en) Timis(sen) Clear.

He was a smith by trade residing first in New Amsterdam (N. Y. C.) and later in Flushing. At Flushing he bought May 22, 1679, of Cath. Van Werven, widow of Dr. Polthemijs for 3300 guilder, a house and outbuildings with five home lots in the village of Flatbush (P. 63 of Liber AA. Flatbush Records) to which place he probably moved and joined the Flatbush Dutch Reformed Church.

In 1689 he bought of Berick (Dyrck) Woertman (at the ferry) some property (Page 137, Liber I of Conveyances). He finally moved to Bushwick - where his son David lived and died.

These "villages" are now a part of Brooklyn and are not widely separated.

He signed his name Johannis Sprungh.

"Mustor rolls of 100 volunteers enlisted under Capt. Allertus Tiebout to serve in the expedition against Canada - mustered in N.Y. City before the Honorable Stephen Bayard, Mayor of New York at the City Hall the 18th day of July in the 20th year of the reign of his majesty (1746)

The Mayor made a speech to the volunteers

Cornelius Sprong and others were taken prisoners and held at Quebec for several years - they were finally sent to Albany, New York, in the early fifties (1753) and exchanged for French prisoners. This is evidently how Cornelius happened to locate in what was then Albany County and there met Marguerita Schans.

Early in 1800 David Sprong with his father-in-law Ebenezer Ward Finney, brother-in-law Samuel Raymond, brother-in-law Hubert Robinson and their families, left Albany with ox teams and traveled by covered wagon across New York State and then down the Allegheny River to Pittsburgh. Here they camped and built large flat boats, fitted with wagon covers over the after part to shelter the women and children. These boats were made of green oak planks fastened with wooden pins to a timber frame and caulked with tow or any other pliant substance that could be procured. They then loaded all their belongings on the boats and proceeded down the Ohio, finally landing at a point near Cincinnati, Ohio and settled on the 10,000 acre tract of land already purchased by Ebenezer Ward Finney.

My grandmother, Olive Jane Sprong (wife of Jonathan Burdge) told me that old Mr. Finney was a preacher. She spoke very respectfully of him. Ebenezer W. Finney was her great grandfather.

(Howard G. Burdge, author)

In 1800 David Sprong built a large barn on his farm at Finneytown - it still stands (1940) and is strong and good for another century. The date of erection is to be seen inside the barn; in this barn have played five or six generations of David Sprong's descendants. The nails used were made by hand by Samuel Raymond (see above).

The gravestones of these worthy people are to be seen in the Finneytown cemetery, located on land given by Mr. Finney.

In the spring of 1935 - the great great grandchildren (Howard G. Burdge, Oscar Frank Burdge and Alice V. Burdge (of David Sprong) and their grandchildren had a family reunion at Oscar's home in Saylor Park (Cincinnati, Ohio) and strange as it may seem Howard G. Burdge bought a number of rabbits for the feast from a man who lived on the farm of Ebenezer W. Finney, his great great great grandfather, and the great, great, great, great, great, grandfather of Howard's granddaughter, Constance J. Davidson, and of Oscar's grandchildren.

David Sprong bought 320 acres from Ebenezer Ward Finney and wife Rachel (part of E. W. Finney's 10,000-acre tract, for $500, deed signed and recorded in Court House, Cincinnati, Ohio, 11-15-1800, recorded 6-12-1801.

David Sprong bought of Henry House and Ann House 150 acres for $600 11-7-1800 in presence of E.W. Finney and John Mercer - deed recorded at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Introduction to the Coltry (Soltra) Genealogy

By Howard Griffith Purdge

Family tradition says that young Oliver Coltry came to America with two older sisters, probably married, in 1692 on the ship that brought Wm. Penn from England to America for the second and last time. We know that Oliver lived in Elizabethtown, N. J., and that he was a barber. In those days barbers bled people, hence the red and white sign representing the blood on the bandages. Oliver died young in 1729, but left a will providing money for the education of his small son, Oliver. He named his wife Margaret as executrix. This is all that we know of our first American Coltry.

Oliver the Second settled in Somerset County, Bridgewater Township, New Jersey, which is not many miles from Elizabethtown. He bought land there in 1760. He married Melona Otter and had quite a family and now has descendants in almost every state in the union.

The first three generations all spelled the name Coltry in their deeds and wills, although some of the fourth generation spelled it Soltra. However, by far the greater number of descendants still spell it Coltry. It is interesting to note that the English name was originally Goldtree and that it is often now pronounced Goldtree by the older generations. There is a large forest in England named the Coltry Forest and in 1918 the London "Country Life" magazine published an article by Capt. Sidney Coltrex on "The Horse and the War."

Some of the early Coltrys married into Holland Dutch families which brought Dutch names into the family and it was not long before the grandchildren formed the belief that Oliver Coltry the First was Dutch and came from Holland. This is even printed as a fact in a Somerset County History and has misled some of the later family record hunters.

Beginning with the third generation in America we have divided this book into four parts lettered "A," "B," "C," and "D." The descendants of OLIVER COLTRY III are under "A," and those of his brother THOMAS under "B," and of his brother PAUL under "C," and brother JOHN's descendants will be placed under "D" if any are discovered, which is unlikely as tradition says he had none.

Some family "A," grandsons of Oliver II migrated to Jacksonville, Illinois in the early part of the 19th century and became prominent in the affairs of their country and state.

Prior to that, Paul and John, sons of Oliver II and uncles of those who went to Illinois, migrated about 1800 to southern New York. Paul, in 1829, again migrated with some of his sons to Jennings County, Indiana, using oxen and covered wagons. Paul died there in 1845, but several of his children again migrated to Iowa, where hundreds of their descendants still live on large prosperous farms.

On the 1880's when Oklahoma was opened up for homesteaders, some of these same pioneering men now well-to-do and experienced in taking up new homesteads went from Iowa to Oklahoma, looked the ground over and selected good sites which they staked out at the appointed hour. Oil was later found on their property and farming became a side issue.

In reading the pages of this book, one will discover that there were many talented and highly educated Coltry descendants, some with names other than Coltry. Possibly these talented persons inherited some of their traits from the other side of the family. However, all are proud to be a part of the tribe of Coltry.

The author of this book, inspired by the memory of his brilliant and studious grandmother, Elizabeth Coltry Griffith, to whose memory the Coltry volume is dedicated, has spent over a score of years gathering these facts. He is greatly indebted to Miss Nabel Hall Coltra, of Jacksonville, Illinois, Mrs. Dora Coltry Marshall of Arlington, Nebraska, Mrs. Jennie Coltry Drake of Russell, Iowa, Mr. Edwin Coltry of Red Oak, Iowa, and Miss Elanche Coltry of Arnold's Park, Iowa, all of whom have furnished much needed data, and their deep interest has been an inspiration to carry on.

The chief aim of the author has been to clear up the main branches of this old "Goldtree" so that later generations can easily graft their branches to the main stems.

Howard Griffith Fudge of Conway, New Hampshire and Melbourne, Florida

Tradition from widely separated branches of descendants says Oliver came to America in 1609 in the ship that brought Wm. Penn to America on his second and last trip to America. He came with two older sisters of whom we have no trace.

He died young and in his will he left money for the education of his only son Oliver. His wife Margaret was executrix of his will. (See M.J. Wills) The fact that he left money to educate his son indicates that Oliver II was quite young. If he had been in his teens, it is likely he would have been "bound out" to learn a trade.

In the 1820 U. S. Census of Steuben Co. N.Y. Nathaniel Goltry is given in Wayne Twp. as between 26-45 as is his wife, 2 girls under 10 which agrees with previous record. Also one male between 10-26, probably his wife's brother Wm. Fitzgerald who was an orphan.

Nathaniel and family migrated by ox team from Pleasant Valley Steuben County in August, 1829, to Jennings Co. Indiana. He was accompanied by his father Paul and mother Rachel, and his brothers Paul, William and others.

In 1860 he and a number of his sons and families went to Lucas Co. Iowa where they have prospered.

The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the various methods which have been proposed for the determination of the rate of reaction. It is found that the most reliable method is the one which involves the measurement of the change in concentration of one of the reactants or products. This method is applicable to all reactions, and it is the only one which gives a direct measure of the rate of reaction. The other methods are all indirect, and they are subject to various sources of error.
 The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the factors which influence the rate of reaction. It is found that the rate of reaction is influenced by the concentration of the reactants, the temperature, and the presence of a catalyst. The rate of reaction is also influenced by the surface area of the reactants, and by the nature of the solvent. The rate of reaction is also influenced by the nature of the reactants, and by the nature of the products. The rate of reaction is also influenced by the nature of the catalyst, and by the nature of the solvent. The rate of reaction is also influenced by the nature of the reactants, and by the nature of the products. The rate of reaction is also influenced by the nature of the catalyst, and by the nature of the solvent.

The following table shows the results of the experiment. The first column is the number of trials, the second column is the number of correct responses, and the third column is the percentage of correct responses. The data is as follows:

Number of Trials	Number of Correct Responses	Percentage of Correct Responses
10	8	80%
20	15	75%
30	22	73.3%
40	28	70%
50	35	70%
60	42	70%
70	48	68.6%
80	55	68.8%
90	62	68.9%
100	68	68%

The results show that the percentage of correct responses remains relatively stable, ranging from 68% to 80%, across the different numbers of trials.

Number of Trials	Number of Correct Responses	Percentage of Correct Responses
10	8	80%
20	15	75%
30	22	73.3%
40	28	70%
50	35	70%
60	42	70%
70	48	68.6%

1. The first part of the report discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the integrity of the financial system and for the ability to detect and prevent fraud.

2. The second part of the report describes the various methods used to collect and analyze data. It includes a detailed discussion of the sampling techniques employed and the statistical methods used to interpret the results. The report also includes a table showing the distribution of the data.

3. The third part of the report discusses the implications of the findings for the future of the research. It suggests that further studies should be conducted to explore the relationship between the variables studied and to develop more effective methods for data collection and analysis.

4. The fourth part of the report discusses the limitations of the study. It acknowledges that the sample size was relatively small and that the results may not be generalizable to all populations. It also notes that the study was limited by the availability of data and the methods used for data collection.

5. The fifth part of the report discusses the conclusions of the study. It states that the findings support the hypothesis that there is a significant relationship between the variables studied. It also suggests that the results have important implications for the field of research and for the development of more effective methods for data collection and analysis.

6. The sixth part of the report discusses the recommendations for future research. It suggests that further studies should be conducted to explore the relationship between the variables studied and to develop more effective methods for data collection and analysis. It also suggests that the results of the study should be used to inform the development of more effective methods for data collection and analysis.

1. The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the fresh air. It felt like a warm blanket after a long flight. The sun was shining brightly, and the birds were chirping happily. I took a deep breath and smiled. This was my first time in the country, and I was excited to see everything for myself. The people were friendly and welcoming. They showed me around and helped me with everything I needed. I stayed in a nice hotel, and the food was delicious. I had a great time, and I was happy to be here. I will definitely come back soon.

2. The second thing I noticed was the beautiful scenery. The mountains were covered in snow, and the lakes were frozen. The trees were bare, but they looked so pretty. I took many pictures and I was happy to see everything for myself.

3. The third thing I noticed was the friendly people. They were so nice to me, and they helped me with everything
 I needed. I was happy to be here, and I will definitely come back soon.

4. The fourth thing I noticed was the delicious food. I had a great meal at a restaurant, and the food was so good.
 I was happy to try the local cuisine, and
 I will definitely come back soon.

5. The fifth thing I noticed was the beautiful scenery. The mountains were covered in snow, and the lakes were frozen. The trees were bare, but they looked so pretty. I took many pictures
 and I was happy to see everything for
 myself.

6. The sixth thing I noticed was the friendly people. They were so nice to me, and they helped me with everything
 I needed. I was happy to be here, and
 I will definitely come back soon.

7. The seventh thing I noticed was the delicious food. I had a great meal at a restaurant, and the food was so good.
 I was happy to try the local cuisine, and
 I will definitely come back soon.

8. The eighth thing I noticed was the beautiful scenery. The mountains were covered in snow, and the lakes were frozen. The trees were bare, but they looked so pretty. I took many pictures
 and I was happy to see everything for
 myself.

9. The ninth thing I noticed was the friendly people. They were so nice to me, and they helped me with everything
 I needed. I was happy to be here, and
 I will definitely come back soon.

10. The tenth thing I noticed was the delicious food. I had a great meal at a restaurant, and the food was so good.
 I was happy to try the local cuisine, and
 I will definitely come back soon.

There only six copies of this book to be placed in the D.A.R. library in Washington D.C. the New York City Public Library, The Los Angeles Cal. Genear. Library, The Newberry Library in Chicago and the other undecided as yet with Cleveland as a possibility. There are no copies for sale.

I have a long standing interest in the Civ. Library where I received my first library card in the 1880's when Dr. Whelpley was Librarian and Miss Sherwood was a next door neighbor and long time friend of mine. I left Cincinnati in 1892.

This book should be printed but a retired school teacher can't afford such a luxury on top of the money already spent in compiling this volume.

To the Librarian of the Cincinnati Public Library.

By insured Parcel post, I am sending your genealogical library a George family genealogy which it has taken me over forty years of research to compile. It will be of special interest to many old Cincinnati families who settled there in 1800 and now have hundreds of descendants in Hamilton and nearby counties. The records of these families are carried back to the original American ancestor and give detailed revolutionary soldier records which will enable their descendants to join such organizations as the Daughters of the Am. Revolution, The Sons of the American Revolution - Colonial Dames and the like. These allied families are the Rogers, Sprong, Finney, Hall, Griffith, Raymonds, Robins, Howard, Johnstons and Ward lines.

The old David Sprong farm inside which is in large enduring letters - the date of erection - 1800. It is located in Finneytown not far from the Finneytown Cemetery and across the road from the old Finneytown School house, both of which have been featured in the Cincinnati Enquirer in their dedication day articles; the Cemetery on May 30 1949 and the
